

Emerging learnings

In the first column, gather up all your recent learnings using the sentence starters in each box. Write down as many different ideas as you can—big or small. In the second column, note how or where the learning happened.

Learning statements	Examples of how and where
I am learning to...
I am learning that...
I am learning about...

When you have gathered as many ideas as you can, take a highlighter and mark the ones that are most important to you. Think about why you have chosen them.